
Amos Cochran is an Emmy nominated composer, musician, and sound artist based in America. His work has been showcased at the Sundance, Berlin, and Toronto Film Festivals, The London Design Festival, Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art, The Unexpected, The University of Houston Brain Center, and his A+V piece Memory Dissolve received the merit award at Artfields.

Along with releasing and performing original music, Cochran makes up half of the audio ensemble AIR STRUCTURES. Cochran is currently the executive and creative director of the new experimental art showcase, ArcadeNow.
